

Sun & Moon at 30A

Referral OS — Overview · June 2026

We own two adjacent vacation houses on Crystal Court in Seagrove Beach — Blue Moon and Golden Sun, sitting side-by-side, sleeping 16 combined. Most 30A rentals are single homes. Our format is built for groups who want privacy and togetherness in one address — wedding parties, multi-generational families, bachelorette weekends, corporate retreats.

The strategic problem: the people who can recommend us to those groups — wedding planners, private chefs, family photographers, bachelorette concierges, drive-market travel agents — don't know we exist. Most owners hope referrals happen organically. We're building a system instead.

What we're trying to accomplish

Turn referral partnerships from accidental into systematic. Identify every relevant partner across our supply markets (30A) and demand markets (Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas, Memphis, Charlotte, Raleigh, and a dozen more) — then reach each one with a personalized, specific message that explains why our two-adjacent-houses format matters to their clients in particular.

Where we stand today

Partners identified	969	across 19 segments (wedding, chef, photo, bach, etc.)
Contacts with email	1,087	from website-scrape enrichment
Personalized emails queued	887	fully written + tracking-linked, ready to dispatch
Emails sent so far	45	first wave of chefs + tests
Real opens	19	human reads (excludes Gmail auto-prefetch)
Click-throughs	7	partners who clicked to our property page
Reply rate	TBD	rollout still in week 1

The segments we target

Tier	Segment	Partners	Why
1	Wedding planners (drive-market: ATL, BHM, Nash, NOLA)	467	Whole-wedding bookings, $4.5k avg referral
1	Bachelorette planners & concierges	257	Awkward 10–16 group size — our format fits exactly
1	Wedding planners (30A local)	194	Highest conversion — they already book 30A weekly
3	Family / vacation photographers (30A)	43	Every shoot client asks them where to stay
3	Private chefs (30A)	14	Two-kitchen pitch lands instantly with chefs
4	Bachelorette activities (party buses, tours, escape rooms)	93	Not for outreach — for guest concierge sheet

How the system works

Step 1 — Identify: we pull every relevant business from Google Places across each segment and geography, plus drive-market planners across 14 cities historically known to send destination weddings to 30A. Total: 969 unique partners identified across 19 segments.

Step 2 — Enrich: for each business, we extract their email, Instagram handle, Facebook, LinkedIn from their website. 1,087 contactable emails so far, ~85% have IG handles.

Step 3 — Personalize: for each partner, an AI generates a 100–150 word email referencing something specific about them (their cuisine specialty, portfolio focus, location, review count) and frames our two-houses-together value differently per segment. A chef gets the "two kitchens + shared yard" pitch. A wedding planner gets the "bride's family one house, groom's family the other" pitch.

Step 4 — Send + track: emails dispatch on a 3-week ramped schedule (Tue/Wed/Thu mornings, ramping from 14 to 200 per day) to build sender reputation properly. Every email has an invisible open pixel and tracked links. We know who opens, who clicks through to the property page, and who replies. Status auto-advances prospect → contacted → responded → engaged → partner.

A real email the system generates

Recipient: Marrow Private Chefs (Santa Rosa Beach, FL · 30A's most-reviewed private chef · 5★, 684 reviews)

Subject: two kitchens, one yard

Hi there,

Saw your reviews — you're the most loved private chef on 30A by a wide margin. Quick reach-out from one Crystal Court neighbor: I run Sun & Moon at 30A, two adjacent houses in Seagrove Beach (Blue Moon and Golden Sun, sitting next to each other on the same street).

The thing that's relevant to you: two full kitchens with two ovens, plus a shared backyard the two houses open onto. Groups of 12–16 stay together but the chef gets real prep space — stage in one kitchen, plate from the other, serve on the yard.

If you ever want a property you can confidently send clients to, I'd love to send over the listings + put you on our welcome vendor sheet (and refer you to every group we host).

— Cristian

What success looks like

The first signal is engagement — open and click rates on the cold emails. Healthy benchmarks for this audience: 35–45% real opens, 10–15% clicks, 5–10% reply rate. Early data is on track (45 sent, 42% open rate, 16% click-through).

The real signal — the one that matters — is bookings attributed to a partner. Every email contains tracked links unique to each partner. When a guest books and we can attribute the lead back to a partner's referral, that partner moves from contacted → engaged → partner in our pipeline. We close the loop with a thank-you and a referral fee or a return referral.